FLOWER POWER

AS COCO CHANEL'S FAVORITE FLOWER, the camellia has adorned jewelry, haute couture clothing, and various other goods from the French fashion house for more than a century. Now, the scentless flower is at the heart of Chanel's new Hydra Beauty Micro Sérum, the latest addition to the brand's dedicated line of moisturizers. Formulated to deeply replenish the skin, the serum is the first of its kind to utilize a patented micro-droplet technology, which suspends the nourishing camellia oil extract in the water-based product, preserving it in its purest form until applied to the skin. According to Chanel's consulting dermatologist, Amy Wechsler, MD, the serum's 24-hour moisture retention offers a vital anti-aging component. "Dry skin appears more wrinkled and looks older," she explains. "This product delivers hydration into the five levels of the stratum corneum below the surface immediately, and tests showed a 33 percent increase in hydration after four weeks." Ideal for all skin types, especially sensitive and oily complexions, Hydra Beauty Micro Sérum ($110, 1 ounce) leaves the skin quenched and smooth, with aromatic notes of white peach and jasmine.
